ELIHU ROOT, SERVANT OF THE PLUNDERBUND

NOTHING COULD BE MORE APPROPRIATE IN THE LAST HOUR OF DESPERATION THAN THE APPEARANCE OF ELIHU ROOT AS THE ADVOCATE OF THE ELECTION OF CHARLES E. HUGHES.

MR. ROOT, UNLIKE MR. HUGHES, DOES NOT CONDESCEND TO DO PIECE WORK FOR THE TRUSTS. HE HAS INSISTED ON ANNUAL RETAINERS, AND ALL HIS PROFESSIONAL LIFE HAS BEEN AT THE SERVICE OF ANY CORPORATE PIRATE OR INDIVIDUAL SCOUNDREL WHO HAD THE NECESSARY MONEY TO EMPLOY HIM.

HE IS KNOWN THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY AS THE ATTORNEY OF THOMAS F. RYAN, THE TRACTION AND INSURANCE BUCCANEER. SINCE BECOMING SECRETARY OF STATE HE STILL HOLDS THAT POSITION, AND WHILE HE WAS SECRETARY OF WAR, UNDER A PREVIOUS ADMINISTRATION, HE DID NOT SCRUPLE TO WORK AT HIS TRADE FOR THE TRUSTS.

Mr. Root has had a long and not creditable career as a defender of the sort of persons and "interests" which are now all lined up behind his friend, Mr. Hughes.

His first job that attracted public attention to him was when he figured among the counsel for William M. Tweed, convicted of stealing over one million dollars from the New York city treasury, and his eagerness to distinguish himself in that bad cause brought him under censure of the court. Only his youth saved him from being punished for contempt. The elder lawyers in the case were fined, but Supreme Court Justice Noah Davis let off the small fry, among them Root, with a reprimand, in which he used this language, by which Mr. Hughes's advocate evidently did not profit:

"I ask you, young gentlemen, to remember that good faith to a client never can justify or require bad faith to your own consciences, and that however good a thing it may be to be known as successful and great lawyers, it is even a better thing to be known as HONEST MEN."

In 1886 Root was counsel for Jake Sharp, sent to Sing Sing for obtaining the Broadway Railroad franchise by bribing aldermen.

In 1892 he defended the Whiskey Trust.

In 1894 he was charged with attempted bribing of members of the constitutional convention.

In 1898 Mr. Root, ever active in business, formed the Watch Trust.

In 1899 he framed and had introduced in the Legislature the Astoria Light and Heat grab, in behalf of the Rockefeller-Rogers Lighting Trust, toiling assiduously as a lobbyist.

But Mr. Root's chief eminence as a servant of the Plunderbund, for which he is now on the stump, was won in 1900 when he narrowly escaped imprisonment for his operations in connection with the State Trust Company, of which he was a director.

The New York World of March 13, 1900, put the matter briefly thus:

"THE CRIME—A director of the State Trust Company arranges and permits to be carried out a plan whereby $2,000,000 cash is advanced from the Treasury of the company to an office boy, who acts as a dummy for six persons, at least two of whom are directors of the company.

"THE OFFENDER—Elihu Root, Secretary of War.

"THE ACCUSER—Frederick D. Kilburn, State Superintendent of Banking, who said in his official report to Governor Roosevelt:

"'Beyond all question this loan was illegal, because excessive, and because, in part, it was made indirectly to directors of the Trust Company.'"

The legal penalty for the crime with which Root was thus officially charged is "IMPRISONMENT in a penitentiary or county jail for not more than one year or a fine of not more than $500, or both."

Nothing was done to Root, then Secretary of War, and he never yet has attempted to defend himself.

It was in an official report to Governor Roosevelt that Superintendent of Banking Kilburn, on March 10, 1900, accused Root of having violated the penal code in allowing Danny Shea, the office boy of Thomas F. Ryan, to loan $2,000,000 of the State Trust Company's money to fellow directors. The report was based on an investigation conducted by General Avery D. Andrews. Not only was Root involved, but State Superintendent of Insurance Louis F. Payn, Thomas F. Ryan and William F. Sheehan, all now with Root, backing the candidacy of Mr. Hughes.

Had it not been that the Secretary of War and his confederates were politically influential, it is hardly likely they would now be free to go electioneering for the candidate of the Trusts.

From 1901 to 1905, aside from his high duties as a Cabinet officer, Mr. Root served as counsel for the Tobacco, Steel, Sugar and Gas Trusts, as well as Ryan's Traction Trust and Ryan's Equitable Life Assurance Society. He refused to answer the Truesdale committee's questions as to the alleged theft of $1,800,000 of the policyholders' money while he was a trustee of the Mutual Life. Mr. Hughes spared him, in common with Secretary Cortelyou and Cornelius Bliss, collectors of the Republican party in the campaign of 1904, the embarrassment of calling him as a witness before the Armstrong committee.

But when Thomas F. Ryan was under examination he told how he had "INSTRUCTED Mr. Root and Mr. Cravath to do the best they could"—the best they could—that is to bring his capture of the Equitable into line with the law. Also Mr. Ryan told of the services of his legal lackeys, Messrs. Root and Cravath, when he was in trouble with Harriman over the division of the spoils—Cravath, who was Mr. Hughes's partner while Mr. Hughes was doing any piece work for the trusts that could be got.

There has been given here but a bare outline of Mr. Root's activities as a lobbyist attorney and steerer for the "Interests." He has been steadily at their orders, while in or out of the Cabinet.

The Plunderbund has no more faithful, no more skilful, no more unscrupulous tool than Elihu Root. It has been his business in life to toil for it and amass a fortune while doing so.

Never before under cover could he find time to neglect his duties as a member of the Cabinet to answer a summons from Thomas F. Ryan or any other trust client who hires him and needs his wits to circumvent the law.

The Plunderbund now calls on him to quit Washington and come to the rescue of its candidate for the Governorship of New York, beaten before the robbed people, and he responds—responds just as he would if Ryan wired him to turn up at the New York office or Albany to care for "imperilled interests."

HOLD YOUTH ON FORMAL CHARGE OF KILLING OLD MAN

Buffeted by a Fierce Gale, Tug and 3 Barges FACE SEA DISASTER

Flying Signals of Distress, Big International Is off Pollock Rip Shoal.

CHATHAM, Nov. 2.—With signals of distress displayed the Philadelphia & Reading tug International, with three light barges, is at anchor off the Pollock Rip Shoal. Her steering gear is broken and the tug and barges are buffeted by a gale from the northeast.

The sea is exceedingly rough, and although the tug Lessuge, with Captain Calhoun and crew, has gone from Woods Hole to assist the International, it is feared that there will be difficulty in rescuing those on board.

There has been no communication with the tug except by signals.

SCHOONER AND CREW SAVED IN BLINDING GALE

HYANNIS, Nov. 2.—In a blinding snow storm and heavy gale the lumber laden schooner Arthur J. Lord, which struck on the sunken ledges off Hyannis Monday night, was pulled off the rocks by one of the Boston towboat company's tugs that had been rushed to the rescue of the craft as soon as the appeal for help was received.

The crew of the little schooner had about given up hope of saving their vessel and were in fear of their lives, as violently did the seas pound the craft all day yesterday.

When night came on and help had not arrived, preparations for leaving the vessel, should she show signs of breaking up, were made. The only hope of escape for the crew lay in reaching the Bishop and Clerks lighthouse, which was about a mile and a half to the leeward of their vessel.

The tug, however, relieved the fears of the crew soon after night came on.

It required the most skilful work on the part of the captain and crew of the rescuing tug to get alongside the stranded vessel, and it was several hours before a hawser could be made fast to the vessel and the work of pulling her off her bed of rocks began. In a short time after the hawser was made fast the vessel began to move slowly.

After the schooner was released from the ledges she ran into the harbor at Hyannis was quickly accomplished. The schooner was left at anchor, with her decks swash and her crew completely exhausted and unnerved from exposure and their thrilling experience.

TOO MANY RAZORS LEAD TO ARREST

Because he exhibited a handful of razors in a West End barber shop, offering them for sale, William Hamilton was arrested Sunday, charged with breaking into the barber shop of Peter Vitsgiano, No. 225 Washington street, from which twenty-five razors, valued at $40, were stolen. When Hamilton, who gives his address as No. 11 River street, Cambridge, was searched eighteen razors were found in his pockets.

FALLS 2 STORIES; INSTANTLY KILLED

While working on the fifth floor of the building at No. 350 Boylston street, at 10:30 o'clock to-day, a man named A. Stuart, residence unknown, missed his footing and fell to the first floor. When picked up he was dead, his head being crushed and many bones broken. Stuart was in the employ of Woodbury & Leighton.

WINTRY STORM GRIPS NEW ENGLAND'S COAST

SNOW FALLING, GALE BLOWING, SHIPPING IS BADLY HAMPERED.

With a fifty-mile gale in the outer harbor, vessels battering their way through mountainous seas in order to get to port, snow filling the air and the mercury hugging the freezing point, Boston and New England are experiencing the first bear blizzard of the season.

One inch of snow has fallen in Portland, and in Boston the weather bureau regards the fall as nothing but a flurry. The lowest temperatures in New England are reported from Northfield and Burlington, Vt., where the mercury registers 20 degrees—two below the freezing point. Rain is falling in Eastport, Me.

In the teeth of the gale none but seagoing craft ventured to leave Boston harbor to-day. Even the staunch coast steamers of the Eastern Steamship Company are avoiding the fight with the wind and the waves.

Steamers Stay in Port.

The City of Rockland, which left here last evening for Rockland and Bangor, came back into the lower harbor, where she is now at anchor.

The bay State of the Eastern Steamship Company, which was due to leave Portland last evening, did not get away until daybreak to-day. At that time the wind there had fallen somewhat. Shortly then it has freshened, and she is now battling her way toward this port.

The City of Bangor, which left Bangor last evening for Boston, came as far as Rockland, where she is now tied up. The steamer Ransom B. Fuller did not venture outside at all from Bath, but remained at her slip.

Many fishermen tried to get to sea to-day, but when they saw the high seas and felt the force of the gale they put back and are in port.

Pounded unmercifully by the waves, the City of Macon, from Savannah, Georgia; the Furness liner Pennyland, from Fowey, England, and the Holland-American freighter Bedaula, from Rotterdam, arrived in port to-day. No damage was done the steamers, but their captains all reported very rough weather as they neared Boston.

Results Not Yet Known.

The small coasting steamers did not creep loose their lines, some of their skippers even thinking of trying to battle the way through such a storm.

The sea was rough all last night around the Nantucket Shoals and the pitch of the Cape, and none but the most powerful steam vessels were able to pass that way. The wind blew at the rate of from sixty to seventy miles an hour.

So far, as the result of the tempest on Wednesday, few accidents have been reported. It is feared that the record is by no means complete as yet, for the gale was tremendous.

Two barges anchored off Ipswich bay were caught and driven ashore at Pigeon Cove. For a time it looked as though they would ground at Annisquam Bar, but the wind shifted and they made better landing. A four-masted schooner managed off Orleans trying to weather Cape Cod, but managed to veer round before going ashore.

The steamer Juniata from Baltimore and Norfolk, and the Herman Winter of the Metropolitan line from New York, came around Cape Cod yesterday afternoon in the teeth of the gale, and succeeded in making port here only a few hours late.

Edward Windmill, Accused of Causing Death of Aged Michael Kennedy, Declares Old Man Fell from Wagon in Which They Were Driving.

Charged with manslaughter, alleging that he caused the death of aged Michael Kennedy, the Lincoln recluse, Edward Winmill, a young man who was in his company on the last day of his life, was held to-day in the District Court at Concord for a further hearing on next Wednesday.

Winmill, who is twenty-eight years of age and a rather clear-cut young man, put an entirely new light on the tragedy when he asserted that Kennedy fell from a wagon in the torn-up streets of Watertown, injured himself and possibly received the fractures of the skull that caused his death.

Kennedy was seventy years of age. It was reported that he ordinarily carried a large sum off money with him—something less than $1,000—and this was given at first as the probable reason for his murder. Medical Examiner Chamberlain decided that the man had been the victim of murder after he had held an autopsy.

This is the story that Winmill told to the detectives to-day:

"KENNEDY FELL OUT."

"I met Mr. Kennedy on Tuesday. He was driving in a wagon. We went to Brighton. We bought liquor and drank it. We were on our way home and were going through Watertown. The streets were torn up, and as a result Kennedy was thrown out of the wagon.

"He was hurt and blood flowed from his injuries in the head. He was able to climb back into the wagon. Two policemen came up and wanted to arrest him. We persuaded them that it was not necessary. I wanted him to let me drive the rest of the way home, but he persisted that he was able to do it. He did drive home. He went into the yard and the last I saw of him was about 11 o'clock, when he started to unhitch the horses.

"That is everything I know about the man and all I know about the possible cause of his death."

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

When Winmill was arraigned in court to-day the clerk read the charge that he had attacked Kennedy and killed him, and asked how he plead.

"Not guilty," was the reply in a firm voice.

"Are you ready for examination?" asked Judge Keyes.

"I am," was Winmill's answer.

"The government," responded the Judge, "owing to the peculiar circumstances of this case is not ready to prosecute it. It will be continued until next Tuesday."

Following his arraignment State Detectives Rhodes and Byrnes had a long conversation with the prisoner. It was to them he told his story of his association with Kennedy on the day of his death.

Winmill was taken to the Cambridge prison this afternoon.

ARREST JAPANESE SPY ON FORTS IN MANILA

MANILA, Nov. 2.—A young Japanese officer, now known to hold a commission as a captain of engineers in the Mikado's army, was caught to-day while in disguise, as he was engaged in sketching certain of the fortifications of Manila harbor. He was promptly placed under arrest and steps will be taken to have him deported immediately.

A search of the young officers effects brought to light several well executed sketches of forts in the islands on which were annotations showing the arrangement of guns, distribution of soldiers stationed in each fort and general comments on the effectiveness of the defences.

Steps were immediately taken by the military authorities, when they received word of the arrest, to see that none of the officer's drawings shall get out of the islands, if they have not already been sent. The mails will probably be examined to see if they contain any suspicious letters or documents being sent to Japan.

In military and government circles the arrest has caused a great sensation, especially in view of the agitation now in progress in Japan against the United States because of the discrimination shown Japanese school children in San Francisco.

It is not regarded as likely that other action will be attempted, however, except to deport the offending officer. Washington will be communicated with, and it is expected here that diplomatic notes will be taken at once to question the Japanese government as to the meaning of such an unfriendly act. That grave complications may ensue as a sequence to the incident is regarded as quite within the range of possibility.

LANE TOLD THAT LABOR INTENDS TO DEFEAT HIM

President Cohen of State A. F. of L. Denounces Candidate for Congress Face to Face.

PETERS LOUDLY CHEERED

Dramatic was the scene in Minten Hall at the meeting of the Wage Earners' Club of Ward 23 last night, when Edward Cohen, president of the Massachusetts branch of the American Federation of Labor, faced Daniel W. Lane, former Senator and Republican candidate for Congress in the Eleventh District, and told him that the labor organizations of the district had joined hands with the wage earners to defeat him at the polls next Tuesday.

The encounter came almost at the close of one of the most earnest and enthusiastic meetings held in connection with the candidacy of Andrew J. Peters, the Democratic candidate, against Senator Lane.

Demanded Explanation.

The Senator had tried to make his position toward labor during the last session of the State Legislature clear to the working men, who had given him a patient hearing.

At the conclusion of his defence of his vote on the overtime bill and other measures opposing labor, President Cohen, who on last Saturday night, in Brighton, had been charged with secretly opposing the cause of Congressman Roberts in Chelsea, stepped toward Mr. Lane and demanded an explanation. Senator Lane replied:

"The last speech I said that I had been told that the president of the State branch was seeking an indictment of Congressman Roberts in Chelsea. I did not reveal my informant's name because I was pledged to secrecy."

Samuel Weiner, a member of a local labor union, testified that it was he who told Mr. Lane of the charge against Mr. Cohen, but said that since he had heard it he has found that there was no foundation for it.

Promises Rebuke at Polls.

When called upon for a retraction, Mr. Lane asserted that he was not guilty of wilfully misrepresenting anybody. As Senator Lane was about to leave the hall, President Cohen stepped up to him and said:

"I personally accept your explanation, but the organization which has sent me here to-night to defend its high honor, maligned by you, will see to it that you, Mr. Lane, will be rebuked on Tuesday next for your unfair action in not investigating the insulting statement that you have publicly made.

On leaving the hall Mr. Lane was hissed and he was surrounded by police as he made his way to his auto.

Andrew J. Peters, the Democratic candidate, was loudly applauded at the conclusion of his speech, the first of the evening. Mr. Peters was followed by Edward Wiest, president of the Ward 19 Wage Earners' Club; Fred J. Kneeland, John A. Wahl, John E. Potts, Secretary Dennis Driscoll of the Massachusetts branch, A. F. of L.; Frank K. Foster and William T. A. Fitzgerald, all of whom made stirring speeches in behalf of Mr. Peters.

SEARCH WOODS FOR MISSING UXBRIDGE GIRL

Mysteriously Disappears From Home and Friends Fear She Is Dead.

UXBRIDGE, Nov. 2.—Scores of men are searching the vast woodland in this section in an endeavor to locate Miss Mary Sweeney, who has been mysteriously missing from her home at Scadden since Monday.

It is believed that the young woman was seen in this place on Monday, and it is feared that when on her way home, which is four miles from here, she wandered into the woods, became exhausted and was unable to go further.

Some of the friends of the girl are afraid that she may have since died from exposure. The woods hereabouts are about sixteen miles square, and it is the intention of the authorities and citizens who have joined with them to search thoroughly every square yard of it unless the missing girl is found before that becomes unnecessary.

Word was received here to-day that the girl was at the home of her brother, Paul Sweeney, of Rockdale, Quadrille & S. Allen went there, but found that the report was not true.

Chairman James Daley of the Board of Selectmen has taken an interest in the case and is doing all in his power to find the missing young woman. Christopher Shaughnessy, speaking to a reporter of the BOSTON AMERICAN, said:

"I think I saw Miss Sweeney in town on Monday. I am almost certain that it was she, and I have talked with others who feel the same way."

GIVE BOY WAIF NAME OF STREET

The eighteen-months-old abandoned baby who was found on Austin street, Cambridge, is still at the City Home in this city. Superintendent Goodhue to-day named the infant Henry Austin, from the street on which the child was found. Unless the waif is claimed by its parents within a day or two it will be turned over to the State and brought up in an institution.

Superintendent Goodhue has received two applications from men who would like to adopt the baby, and several women called at the City Home to-day to take a peek at the little stranger.

COUNTESS ANNA MAY BARE NEW PARIS SCANDAL

Now Considering Move to Give Names of Titled Women in Guarded Letters.

BOLD PLAY BY BONI

PARIS, Nov. 2.—Countess Anna de Castellane was in conference to-day with Maître Crappi, her chief counsel, considering whether or not she would disclose, in her suit for divorce against Count Boni, the names of those women among the foremost in French titled society whom she has so far shielded, and thus loosed a furore of scandal such as has not been equalled in the existence of the republic.

It was the general belief, freely expressed among the friends of Count Boni to-day, that he threatened to force the Countess to this step, which is so abhorrent to her because the families of the women in question are her friends, in the hope that the threat will cause her to abandon the divorce proceedings and once again give him a hold on the Gould millions.

Count Boni made the first move toward a show of carrying out this threat when he turned over to-day to his wife's lawyers a batch of letters from her to him, making plain the contempt in which she held him.

The only answer possible to them on the part of Countess Anna's counsel in production in court of the letters from the Count to her proved nothing the sincerity of letters, it is asserted, would immediately bring open court the names of the titled society women whom the Countess Boni has designated simply as Mme. "A," Mme. "B," "C," etc.

UNEARTH HUNGER AND PLAGUE AT SHILOH

MAINE PROBERS FIND HORRIBLE STATE OF AFFAIRS IN HOLY GHOST COLONY.

LEWISTON, Me., Nov. 2.—That persons of all stages of consumption, and others suffering from smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria, pneumonia and pesky are permitted to mingle, and that little children are half-starved at the settlement of the "Holy Ghost and Us" society in Shiloh is revealed to-day through the probe made by District Attorney Ralph W. Crockett of Androscoggin County. That only one small lamb was on hand yesterday to supply meat to 600 persons was also revealed, and only the most meagre necessities of life were found in the storehouse.

Many other startling conditions regarding the care of the inmates and the restrictions placed upon them were found. Children complained of all kinds of hard treatment, but the adult inmates seemed to take a fanatical joy in their life and surroundings.

With all their diseases and hardships, there must be no complaint, according to rules laid down by Rev. Frank W. Sandford, the "Elijah" of these people. Prayer, not medicine, is their cure. Feed the soul and starve the body to drive out sin, is the motto of the place.

Although amazing revelations are to be made as the result of Mr. Crockett's probe, he will not make a detailed report of his findings until a compiled statement of all the facts has been placed in the hands of Governor Cobb. This report will be the last act of Grand Jury acting against the colony in the fight which the people of Maine are waging in the name of driving this religious sect from the state.

Backed by the urgent demand of Governor Cobb, who has taken official cognizance of the pleadings of Mrs. Alice Phelps of Kansas City to rescue her daughter May from the clutch of the Holy Ghost and Us Society, Mr. Crockett yesterday made an exhaustive and sweeping investigation of Shiloh. He wrung from Lucy Jewell the admission that May Phelps is held in Boston.

"Let me make an emphatic denial that May Phelps is held a prisoner in our Tabernacle," declared Jewell in response to Mr. Crockett's question. "She is now held in Milton, resting there at the home of Mrs. Thomas Craig."

Accompanying Mr. Crockett in his examinations were Dr. and Mrs. Erich Crockett, Miss Blanche Mequillin, a nurse of the Central Maine Hospital, Mrs. Ella F. Neal, a prominent club woman of Lewiston, and the BOSTON AMERICAN representative.

"Shiloh has received over $8,000 from sympathizers during the latest crusade against us," said Elder Jewell. "Money has been flowing into us on all sides. One person gave as high as $1,000, but most of the gifts varied from $100 to $500."

CUTICURA REMEDIES POSSESS TRUE MERIT

BRINGS CARGO OF 12,500 TONS

After a very stormy voyage from Hamburg the Hamburg-American line steamer Bethania arrived in port to-day with one of the largest cargoes ever received in this port.

The steamer carried 3,000 tons of salt and 9,500 tons of general merchandise. The commander reported that while off the coast of Nova Scotia a week ago, during a fierce hurricane, a flock of 150 land birds came aboard the vessel. Five of them died but a few were captured and brought into port alive.

The birds are very strange in appearance and of a species unknown to any who have seen them. They are about the size of a robin and the feathers are mostly black and white. Some of the specimens will be sent to local naturalists for identification.

THREE DEATHS ON SHIP FROM STRANGE MALADY

CREW OF PERUVIANA ATTACKED BY ILLNESS AND MAY HAVE BEEN POISONED.

The health authorities of the port of Boston to-day are investigating the mysterious deaths of three members of the crew of the Furness line steamer Peruviana, which arrived in Boston from English ports. The thirty members of the crew were all attacked by a strange illness, and four of them, two firemen, a sailor and the ship's carpenter, named Wendt, died. They were buried at sea.

As all of the crew were affected by the strange illness, the three victims dying within a few hours after being attacked, it is believed that some of the food served in the forecastle mess was poisoned. The officers of the steamer were not affected by the mysterious malady, and as they ate at a separate mess, it is believed that the poison theory is correct.

The Peruviana was forced to put back into port at Penarth and Queenstown and firemen who were too ill to continue the voyage. The steamer had a rough passage, and this accentuated the terrible sufferings of the crew.

GUILD AFRAID TO FACE LABOR MEN ON RECORD

Fall River and Lowell Ignored in Arrangements for Ante-Election Rallies.

DREADS OVERTIME BILL

Afraid to meet the workingmen of Fall River and Lowell face to face and explain his attitude on the overtime bill and the appointment of Judge Dana as a reward for his vote, Governor Guild will be heard at neither of these cities during the campaign now nearing its end.

At Fall River the Governor feared the questions, "Why did you appoint a man to the Bench who betrayed the women and children of the mills?"

At Lowell he was likely to be confronted with the question if he favored the election of Senator Hilton, the Republican who received a bogus message about his wife in order to dodge the vote on the overtime bill.

The Republicans of both Fall River and Lowell never before have been ignored in the arrangements of a rally prior to election until this time, and cannot understand why Governor Guild should fear an audience of workingmen, unless it was to avoid answering pertinent questions on the overtime bill.

Say Young Girl Stole to Give Sweetheart Money

Confesses to Police, Who Arrest Young Man, Whom They Find with Another Girl.

Beatrice E. Freeman, a sixteen-year-old girl, living at No. 3 Pauline street, Wintrop, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging her with stealing $500 from her employer, a Union place ostrich feather cleaner and curler, for whom she was cashier.

It is said by the police that she made a full confession, telling them that she did not take the money for herself, but for a young man named William C. Rich, who lived at the same address in Winthrop and who, she said, needed it very much. As a result of her information the police also arrested Rich, whom they found in the company of an attractive girl at the West End.

In Rich's possession was found a gold watch which had been given him by Miss Freeman, a diamond stickpin, two diamond rings and $190 in bills, which he admitted was part of the money that had been given him by the girl, and a charge of receiving stolen property was placed against him.

WOMEN SUE RICH WARE MAN; WANT $40,000

Boston Girl Charges Breach of Promise—Mother Brings Second Case.

LOVE LETTERS IN COURT

NORTHAMPTON, Nov. 2.—Two Boston women, Emma Brodeur and her mother, Mary Brodeur, and a wealthy Ware business man, Frank P. Clark, figure in the Superior Court here to-day in two suits brought by the women, one for breach of promise and one for expenses incurred, loss of services, mental pain and disgrace. Each suit is brought to recover $20,000.

Clark was the first witness called when the case was opened yesterday. From his testimony it appeared that he became infatuated with Emma Brodeur and gave her rings and jewelry. He denied that he ever promised to marry her. Letters of a love-like character written by him to Miss Brodeur were read in court.

The testimony is being taken in the breach of promise case brought by Emma Brodeur, but the same evidence will apply in the case brought by her mother, Mary Brodeur.

NEW HAVEN ROAD DEFIES STATE LAWS

Still Grabbing Up Stocks of Street Railways Throughout Massachusetts.

DESTROYING COMPETITION

WORCESTER, Nov. 2.—The New York, New Haven & Hartford road, in defiance of the people of the State, is still gobbling up the stocks of street railways along the line of that road. By securing control of the stock the New Haven now has a line of street railways extending from Worcester to Springfield.

While Attorney-General Malonie is protesting that he is going to stop the absorption of railways from becoming a part of the New Haven system, the agents of the latter are at work buying up the stock, thus destroying all competition between the street railways and the New Haven.

M'ETTRICK CONFIDENT OF RE-ELECTION

Candidate for House from Ward 17 Stands on His Record of Many Years.

IS AGAINST THE CURLEYS

Relying on his well-known record of many years of public service, submitting to the people that he has always been true and faithful to their interests as a legislator, and declaring that it is his purpose if elected to the House to diligently safeguard and promote to the best of his ability those measures which will better the conditions of the plain people and organized labor, Hon. Michael J. McEttrick of Ward 17, Boston, confidently expects re-election.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Curleys, notorious bosses of the ward, have given ex-Councilman Murphy the indorsement of the Taxpayers' Club in a sick attempt to defeat McEttrick, the prospects of the latter's re-election are very bright. McEttrick is the regular Democratic candidate for the House in Ward 17, the Independence League candidate and the Wage Earners' candidate and will receive the voters of the Independent Republicans who desire to be decently represented in the State House.

Faithful to the People.

Mr. McEttrick points with pardonable pride to his record in Congress and on Beacon Hill as a reason for his re-election. In many respects it is a singular one. It shows that he has been a faithful and efficient tool in the hands of legislation, but, on the contrary, has always been faithful to the people.

Here are a few of the measures which he advocated and voted for in Congress: Direct election by popular election of United States Senators; better salaries for postoffice clerks; bill for the purpose of establishing Labor Day, for the celebrated life saving station at Cape Cod; employers' liability bill; anti-boat bill; municipal ownership bill; bill to abolish child labor; bill to limit hours of labor for women and minors; to limit hours of labor for West End street railway employees; labor arbitration bill; Franklin Park loan bill, to compel proper school instruction, giving parents the right to choose the objections of their children.

That is only a partial list of the bills introduced in this district leader in the national legislature, and the following are a few of those that he has promoted in the Massachusetts legislature:

Record on Beacon Hill.

Bill to protect city laborers; overtime bill; bill to prevent illegal employment of minors; to permit cities and towns to construct and maintain their own lighting plants; public opinion bill; free text book bill; free consumptive home bill; free industrial education bill; bill to prevent sale of the dance hall bill, to prevent girls under seventeen from attending questionable dances; bill to provide for humane treatment and reformation of juvenile offenders; advocated reduction of the price of gas in Boston and vicinity to 75 cents; for half fares on street railways for private school children; bill to prevent corrupt practices at elections; favored picketing bill; bill for free State employment bureau for school teachers; bill to protect adults from indecent exhibitions.

Mr. McEttrick was recorded on every vote of the last session of the Legislature, and on all roll calls while in Congress. In the last twelve years he has been recorded more times than any other man in public life, proving that he has kept all pledges squarely, never dodged his duty to vote, and never discredited his constituents.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—Daniel J. O'Connor, aged thirty-two, is a patient in the City Hospital, suffering from incipient paresis as the result of smoking from 100 to 150 cigarettes a day. He was a horse dealer, but had to give up business.

His lips were blue and he was so nervous that he trembled from head to foot. At times he was almost violent.

"Cigarettes did it, sir," he said at the hospital. "I have not been able to work for two years. I want to smoke right and day. I go all to pieces when I haven't a cigarette in my mouth."

VAST THRONGS URGE HEARST ON TO VICTORY

WHIRLWIND TOUR OF CITY

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—William Randolph Hearst appeared at Carnegie Hall at 12:10 o'clock this morning and was cheered for ten minutes before being permitted to go one with his speech. It was the termination of the first night of the series of rallies with which Mr. Hearst is winding up his wonderful campaign.

Victory was the dominant note at every gathering which he addressed during the night. Crowds greeted him everywhere. From the heart of the East Side to the outlying sections of the Bronx, cheering masses turned out by the thousands and hailed the candidate in a series of demonstrations that eclipsed all records for campaigning in New York.

Suffering from a badly inflamed throat, the result of two months' of continuous speech-making, Mr. Hearst attended the meeting against the urgent advice of his physician, Nevertheless, he was compelled to omit some of the meetings for which he was scheduled, and at several of the others he merely appeared and bowed his acknowledgments.

All the Halls Overflowed.

At all of the meetings which he attended the crowds were so great that the halls could not accommodate all who turned out to cheer the candidate on his victory. The enthusiasm was spontaneous and prolonged, and the predictions of victory confident.

At Carnegie Hall the crowd, which filled every portion of the hall, waited from 8 o'clock until past midnight for him.

In Rutgers square a crowd of 5,000 people, informed that the condition of Mr. Hearst's throat would not permit him to speak in the open air, waited until 11:30 merely to see and cheer him.

In Cooper Union 4,000 people cheered him for five minutes when he arrived there at 10:50.

At the Kalich Theatre, in the Bowery, a crowd that jammed every foot of room in the building cheered him for five minutes when he arrived at 11 o'clock.

Greeted by 10,000 in the Bronx.

The Bronx turned out 10,000 people at the two meetings which he addressed in that borough.

Everywhere that he went there were cheering crowds and great enthusiasm in the streets as well as along the routes and at each place his automobile was surrounded by the surging crowds, who manifested their enthusiasm in every possible fashion. Even as well as near the rioting district, as at and leading on the step, merely to shout and cheer him and to express their belief in his cause and his election.

HOMES LOOTED IN HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, Nov. 2.—The house of John E. Gale, on Summer street, was entered by burglars last night, the house ransacked and stripped of all the silverware, plate and valuable bric-a-brac left there during the absence of Mr. Gale, who is a patient in a private hospital in Boston.

On the previous night the house of Augustus T. Nichols, on Highland terrace, directly in the rear of the Gale residence, was entered and a large quantity of silverware stolen. Both jobs were evidently done by the same persons, the imprint of the linny used on the window of each house being identical.

The residences are among the finest in the city, situated in the centre of what is known as the Highland district.

REFUSE LIST OF SECURITIES IN SAVINGS BANKS

Commissioner Jay Will Not Tell How $14,000,000 Is Invested.

DOESN'T HAVE TO, HE SAYS

Pierre Jay, the New Yorker, whom Governor Guild appointed Bank Commissioner, was asked by a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter to-day several questions regarding certain securities that are held as collateral by savings banks of this State, and to each of them he replied that he would not give any information.

"I would like to see a list of the $14,000,000 securities which you state in the annual report are held by savings banks," was asked.

"I can't show them to you," he replied.

"Why do you give the list of ordinary bank stock and other stocks held and not give the list of securities?"

"Because we are not obliged to," he replied. "The law tells what information we shall give.

"But they may be unsafe securities. Why not let the people know what they are?"

"There are no such securities held by the savings banks."

"Have you any gas or copper stocks in those held by the banks?"

"You will have to ask the banks. We cannot give you the information."

Have to Watch Market.

"How do you know whether these securities are good or bad? Whether they fluctuate in value or not?"

"We get a guarantee that they are good securities, and by watching the market we are able to find out whether they go up or down in value."

"Then you have to watch the market?"

"Yes, we do, and when we find out they are immediately looked up."

"Is there no way of finding out whether the savings of the people are used to buy stocks like Gas and Copper?"

"I do not know of any. If you want these lists you will have to go to somebody higher in authority than I am."

"But the law does not prohibit you from giving the list of that $14,000,000 held by the savings banks?"

"The law does not compel us to give them."

Gave Up Half His Salary.

Pierre Jay, the Bank Commissioner, until appointed by Governor Guild, was a vice president of the Old Colony Trust Company, receiving a salary of $10,000 a year. Under the new law he was made bank commissioner, with supervision over all trust companies and savings banks, and gets a salary of $5,000 a year. Why he gave up a position with the trust company to take another where the salary is less puzzled all the bankers of the State at the time, as did also the fact that Governor Guild could not find a Massachusetts man for the place.

Technically speaking Bank Commissioner Jay was a resident of Massachusetts since 1904, and a voter only one year and six months when appointed.

The savings banks which have the custody of the savings of the working people are allowed to invest in securities the nature of which the Bank Commissioner refuses to divulge, saying that it is a matter between his office and the savings banks. The Bank Commissioner's report gives a list of all investments except these mysterious securities, and he absolutely refuses to divulge them.

SEND $10,000 TO AID CAUSE OF HOME RULE

T. B. Fitzpatrick, national treasurer of the United Irish League of America, today forwarded to the national treasurer of the movement in Ireland, John E. Redmond, M. P., Rt. Rev. Patrick O'Donnell, Bishop of Raphoe, and Alderman Stephen O'Meara of Limerick, the first instalment of $10,000 of the $100,000 pledged at the recent convention in Philadelphia to be raised within the next few months to maintain the Irish party during the coming struggle on the home rule question.

In Lawrence last Sunday night and in Worcester last Wednesday night substantial additions were made to the amount pledged from Massachusetts. The two young Irish members of Parliament, Messrs. Kettle and Hazleton, speak at Lowell next Sunday evening, where another substantial addition to the amount pledged from Massachusetts is greatly assured. On Thursday next they go to Pittsfield, and on Friday speak in Holyoke, closing their visit to Massachusetts for the present with a great demonstration in the Academy of Music, Fall River, on Sunday evening, November 11.

They will then go into Pennsylvania, where a series of meetings is already arranged for them, and will gradually work their way West to Chicago, where they are billed to speak at the anniversary of the Manchester Martyrs on November 25.

Within the next two or three weeks active work will begin in Boston to complete the pledge made by this city, a good nucleus of which has already been sent in the first instalment to Ireland.

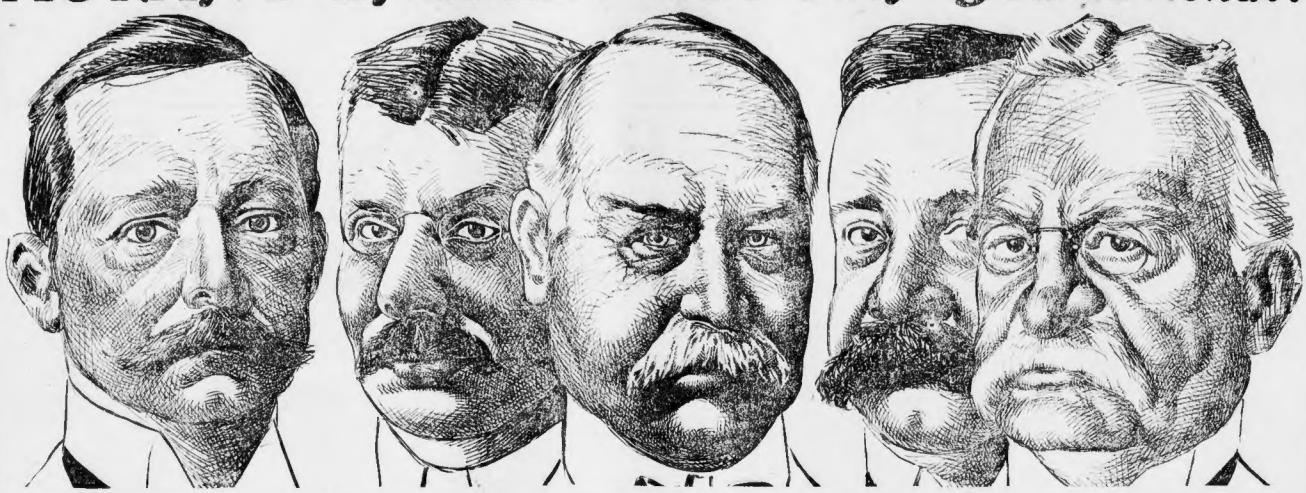
MORAN'S ENEMIES—Are They Your Friends?



W. A. GASTON,
Boston Street Railway Trust.
His cars crowd you. His power in politics has been exerted to keep the Democratic party in a permanent minority and to get franchises for himself and his friends.

W. F. DANA,
Trust Advocate.
As President of the Senate he killed the bill which would have saved women and children from night work in factories. Mr. Guild made him a Judge.

H. M. WHITNEY,
Gas Trust.
He has made more money by corrupting Legislatures than any other man in Massachusetts.

"JAKE" WARDWELL,
Trust Lobbyist.
His services as a "Legislative Agent" are for sale to any corporation that has the price. Among his "clients" are the Lighting Trust and the Insurance Trust. He is a member of Guild's Executive Committee.

H. H. ROGERS,
Oil Trust
He "views with alarm" the signs that the people have decided to take the Government into their own hands. The Standard Oil Company, of which he is the executive head, was recently convicted of crime.

REPAY DRAPER INSULTS BY BALLOT--BROWN

Special to the Boston American.

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 2.—At an enthusiastic rally held under the auspices of the Independence League of New Bedford, which jammed City Hall last evening, Eugene Brown denounced Governor Guild for his attitude in connection with the Overtime Bill. Mr. Brown, who won the audience both by his earnestness and eloquence, declared that the inaugural address of the Governor, in which nothing was said about this measure, together with his subsequent action, showed that he did not want to be placed on record on the bill. In the course of his speech Mr. Brown said:

"The Overtime Bill has been discussed in every town and city of the Commonwealth for four years. One Governor was elected upon it and one Governor was defeated upon it.

"Take up Governor Guild's inaugural and see if you can find one mention of the Overtime Bill there. If Guild had been in favor of the bill it would have been prominently mentioned in his inaugural, but the fact that nothing was mentioned proves absolutely that he was not in favor of the Overtime Bill. If Governor Guild had been so anxious about the Overtime Bill before its defeat as he is now, we would have had the Overtime Bill now.

Bill Will Be Passed.

"No credit is due to a Governor for the passing of labor measures. The fight has been waged in the Legislature and measures have been passed in favor of public opinion. In answer to the Overtime Bill will be passed, but the people certainly will not rest content until the conditions of the old New England days are restored. When a system prevails weak, frail women to go into the mills and work overtime is heartless, inhuman, and is immoral and a blot on civilization.

"My opponent, Leon F. Draper, as stated that I have lied about him. I have asked for a bill of particulars. I have stated and state so again that the words said in Hopedale are such that it is impossible for a man to bring in a family in decency. White flesh in Hopedale today is cheaper than black flesh in the time of the war. There's an indictment for Draper to meet. The papers won't print it, but I dare Mr. Draper to deny it.

"In the textile industry the operatives are not getting the wages they earn, for the reason that they are not given the equivalent for what they produce. What kind of a family can a man bring up on $7.50 a week, Cossacks of Americans? Put the ballot box you workingmen can repay the insults heaped upon you by Draper and his ilk. See that foes are killed politically. All it needs is to awaken the conscience of the American people, who will find a solution of the grave problems that at present confront us, through the channels of love and liberty."

Clement L. Pollock of Boston character fied third as an Anamias Governor. He said that the Governor proved his right to that title when he declared that the State House dome was being regilded by union labor.

"Call up Herbert Parker," said Mr. Pollock, "and ask him if Guild should get his Ananias cap. Ask Mr. Parker if Guild did not assure him over the telephone that he would appoint Judge Gaskill to the Supreme Court an hour and a half before he gave the position to Lawyer Arthur P. Rugg."

Mr. Pollock arraigned the Governor for taking and spending the $100 watch he received for pronouncing an eulogy on President McKinley.

"A man who would do that," said the speaker, "would take two coppers from the cold cold glassy eyes of his dead friend and send them to the eyes he has wept at Mr. Mudge's bier. Such learn in the light of his gold-for panegyric may be found at fifteen cents a piece, or two for a quarter."

HOLD ACCUSED SWINDLER IN $3,000 BONDS

Prisoner, Believed to Have Done Business Here, Faces Chicago Judge.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—When brought before United States Commissioner Foote for trial, charged with using the mails to defraud, Charles W. Norton, alias "L. W. Leonard," said by the Chicago police and secret service office to be one of the most modern swindlers, and to have held notes and other paper worth $2,000,000, begged for a continuance.

"Please, Your Honor, I am not ready to be tried. I need old and kind Dame Time to get it," pleaded the prisoner.

The commissioner heard the complaints and then agreed to hear the case fully Saturday, Nov. 10. Bonds were fixed at $3,000 and the swindler said he could procure this.

The officers say that Norton would obtain stock from any person who would trust him, and agree to sell it in the market. He might, the police declare, sell the stock, and he might retain it, but the result to the person owning the stock was the same. They would receive no money from Norton, nor would the stock be returned to them.

About two years ago Norton was in Toledo, O., operating the American Wireless Brokerage Company. It is also said that he was arrested often in Troy, N. Y., and was in Rutland, Vt., where he served a sentence of one year in jail for the fraudulent use of the mails. He is also said to have done business in Toledo, O., and in Boston, Mass.

Weak Kidneys

It is of but little use to try to doctor the kidneys themselves. Such treatment is wrong, for the kidneys are not alone to blame for their weaknesses or irregularities. They have no power—no self-control. They are operated and actuated by a tiny shred of a nerve which is largely responsible for their strength, or weakness. If the Kidney nerve is strong and healthy the kidneys are strong and healthy. If the Kidney nerve goes wrong you know it by the inevitable result—kidney trouble.

This under nerve is only one of a great system of nerves. This system controls not only the kidneys, but the heart, and the liver, and the stomach. For simplicity's sake Dr. Shoop has called this great nerve system the "Inside Nerves." They are similar to the nerves of feeling—the nerves that enable you to walk, to talk, to act, to think. They are the master nerves and every vital organ is their slave.

The one remedy which aims to treat not the Kidneys alone, but the nerves which are to blame, is known by physicians and druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative (Tablets or Liquid). This remedy is not a symptom remedy—it is strictly a cause remedy. While it usually brings speedy relief, its effects are also lasting.

If you would like to read an interesting book on inside nerve disease, write Dr. Shoop. With the book he will also send the "Health Token"—an intended passport to good health. Both the book and the "Health Token" are free.

Phew! Salts and Castor Oil!

Why take sickening salts or repulsive castor oil? "Goes through you like a dose of salts" means violence, grips, gripes, gases, soreness, irritation, and leaves your stomach and bowels weak and burnt out. Might just as well take concentrated lye. Then there's castor oil, disgusting, nauseating truck that your stomach refuses unless you disguise the taste. Fool your own stomach, ch? Don't ever believe that anything offensive to your taste or smell is going to do you real good. Nature makes certain things repulsive, so you will not take them. Force yourself to nauseous doses, and you ruin your digestion, weaken your bowels, destroy your health.

On the other hand see what a delightful, palatable, perfect modern laxative, liver regulator and bowel tonic you find in

END MYSTERY IN GIRL'S DEATH

WORCESTER, Nov. 4.—The mystery surrounding the identity of the young woman who died in the Worcester city hospital last June under the name of Gertrude Atwood, has been cleared up to the satisfaction of some, but her real name is not divulged.

The body was exhumed from the grave in Hope cemetery, Sept. 25, and was, it is thought, taken to Boston for burial.

CARPENTERS FOR BROWN.

Happiness in a Tablet

Perfect Health for Every One Procured At Small Cost.

How many times have you sat down at your meals absolutely disgusted at the thought or sight of anything to eat?

How many times have you sat down at your meals without the trace of an appetite, but just because it was "time to eat?"

How many times have you felt a gnawing, unsatisfied "still-hungry" feeling in your stomach, even after you were through eating?

How many times have you felt that "lump of lead" on your stomach after eating, whether your meal was well cooked or not?

And how many times have you suffered a whole lot of other things from your stomach that you couldn't explain, but that made you grouchy, miserable, out-of-sorts and generally sour on everybody and everything?

It is safe to say you couldn't tell. You don't keep track of those things, of course, but you know you've suffered them. You probably have had them for so long that they've become a habit with you, and you have come to the conclusion that your fate is to suffer them indefinitely and perhaps forever.

And so men, much like horses, standing unhitched at the hitching post, think they're tied, and so their habit makes them prisoners.

But no one need have dyspepsia, nor indigestion, nor loss of appetite, brash, irritation, burning sensations, heartburn, nausea, eructations, bad memory, loss of vim and vigor and the happiness that comes from a healthy stomach and a good appetite if he will only leave his old sticking post and tie himself to a new one, one that will hold him to health, joy, ambition and a clear mind and memory, and the sunshine that goes with them.

That indeed is Heaven. And you can get it in a little tablet already prepared for the purpose, in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, those little cherubs of health and delight, found in thousands of homes today. Listen—one ingredient of one of these precious little tablets will digest for you 3,000 grains of food.

This relieves your stomach of the work of digesting until your stomach can get strong and healthy again. Your stomach has been overworked and abused. It's fagged out. It needs a rest.

Let Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do the work of your stomach. You will be surprised how fine you'll feel after eating, and how lusciously good everything will taste to you. That's because the Tablets are thoroughly digesting the food which your stomach couldn't digest before.

Have these tablets on your dining table, and take one or two after every meal without fail. Then you will realize as never before that the human stomach decides for every man whether he will go forward or backward—and besides, you'll forget you ever had a stomach to torment you.

HEIRS LOSE IN WILL FIGHT FOR MILLION

PROBATE COURT DECIDES THAT DUNN'S DISPOSITION OF ESTATE MUST STAND.

The effort of a nephew and the New England conference of the Methodist Episcopal church to break the will of Edward H. Dunn, the leather merchant, who died leaving a will divid- ing his $3,000,000 estate between Boston University and various branches of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to upset the will, failed this afternoon, when Judge Mc- Klein in the Probate Court announced that, despite the protest of the three relatives, the will must stand. Counsel for the contestants immediately gave notice of an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Edward H. Dunn died at No. 280 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, on Dec. 6, 1905. He bequeathed $120,000 to Boston University, and a greater part of his estate to the Methodist Episcopal Church, the last will, Mr. Dunn bequeathed his home in the Commonwealth avenue, Boston, that he had intended for a home, hospital and training school of the to him that he would leave him $25,000.

A nephew and two nieces of Mr. Dunn are trying to break the will. They are Robert A. Dunn of Thurber, Col., and Rebecca L. Hanson and Mary E. Perry of Seward.

Dr. Rufus L. Thurston testified to the execution of the will to which he was a witness. Mr. Dunn was in sound mental condition, he said.

Ralph W. Foster, who executed the will, said that Mr. Dunn made several wills prior to the one made in November, 1904, which was the last.

Austin G. Metzler, a lawyer of No. 233 Commonwealth avenue, testified that he knew Mr. Dunn for fourteen years. Mr. Dunn bequeathed him $5,000 in the last will. Metzler said that he was disappointed, because Mr. Dunn had intended to leave him $25,000.

BILL REID'S VISIT MAY CAUSE TROUBLE AT YALE

STUDENTS SORE BECAUSE HARVARD COACH IS ADMITTED TO SECRET PRACTICE.

Special to the Boston American.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 2.—William C. Reid, head football coach at Harvard, was the guest of the Yale eleven and its coaches this afternoon. He arrived here about 1:30 and went to the Yale field where the Yale coaches said he would be admitted to the football practice this afternoon. He will be the guest of the Yale team this evening at dinner, and will take a late train back to Boston.

One of the objects of his visit was to hold a conference relative to the coming Yale-Harvard game. Several important matters incident to the match were discussed. One was the list of officials. They have not been decided upon, and a heart to heart talk will facilitate their choice, if he is elected.

Yale would like to have either the veteran Paul Dashiell for umpire or Michael J. Thomson of Georgetown for referee.

The action of the Yale coaches in offering to extend to Bill Reid, in the generosity of their hearts, the hospitality of the Yale field at secret practice, will make news for both sides. The Yale faculty and the undergraduates are not a bit happy at being sent out, while a Harvard coach is inside. Furthermore they think that when secret practice gets down to such an absurdity its about time to wind it up. The only object of secret practice they recognize is to keep information away from Harvard and Princeton, while the Yale coaches today frustrated this object.

HOAR IS DEAD; PICK WASHBURN

WORCESTER, Nov. 2.—Congressman Rockwood Hoar, son of the late Senator George Frisbie Hoar, died last night at his home in this city, after an illness of about five weeks, leaving a widow and two daughters.

At the time of the Republican congressional convention, it was thought that the illness of General Hoar was only of a temporary character and he was renominated.

Charles G. Washburn of Worcester has been selected by the Republican committee as his successor as the candidate of the party for Congress.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Nov. 2.—Hundreds of lives were threatened last night by train wreckers, who tried to ditch a passenger train less than a quarter of a mile from the local station of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. Their choice of a curve railroad tie as an obstruction was all that saved the train.

Exhausted Volcanoes.

The celebrated English statesman, Lord Beaconsfield, on one occasion referred to the disheartened ministers in the opposition as "Exhausted Volcanoes." Disease, like a burning volcano, saps the body of all vitality, leaving the system in a deplorable, exhausted condition. The blood and the organs cease to perform their important functions properly, causing afflictions, accompanied by the following distressing symptoms: Tired feeling, poor appetite, coated tongue, blotches or pimples on the face, roaring, buzzing sound in the head, pain in the side, back and under the shoulder blade, night sweats, skin troubles, etc., due to ailments arising from the blood, kidneys, stomach and liver. For relief take Dr. Burkhart's Vegetable Compound. Thirty days' treatment 25c. All druggists.

WIFE BIGAMIST --BURKE-ROCHE

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 2.—Divorce proceedings, charging bigamy, are contained in papers served yesterday on Mrs. Aurelie Batonyi, formerly Mrs. Burke-Roche, yesterday, testifying her of the action of her former husband, Hon. Burke-Roche of England.

The case is to be tried in the English courts this month, as the English courts do not recognize the divorce which Mrs. Batonyi obtained in Delaware several years ago.

It is not likely that Mrs. Batonyi will take any action and will allow her former husband to secure a divorce in the English courts.

She was legally divorced in the United States and legally married, and the charge made by Hon. Burke-Roche would not be recognized in the courts of this country.

Caroline Dabney Defying Superstition, Is Married

MISS CAROLINE DABNEY.

IS MARRIED TO-DAY THOUGH IT'S FRIDAY.

Popular Vincent Club Girl Becomes Bride of A. H. Parker in King's Chapel with Simple Ceremony.

Brilliant and daring Caroline Dabney has taken the latitude thrown superstition to the winds, and in her own impetuous and madcap way, chosen to-day, Friday, supposedly the most unfortunate of days, for her wedding to Augustin H. Parker.

The ceremony took place at King's Chapel at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, and the tall, distinguished bride wore long the conventional gown of white liberty and lace and a veil of tulle fastened to the hair with orange blossoms were given away by her father, Lewis S. Dabney of Beacon street, a Harvard '93 man, and a prominent member of the Somerset, Exchange and other clubs.

Severest simplicity dominated every where. The bride is matronized, no bridesmaids and no maid of honor. The decorations were of palms and greenery, interspersed with white blossoms and potted plants. The bride's bouquet was a shower of valley lilies.

Immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride's father followed the ceremony and there, as at the church, the decorations will be simple.

The host man and ushers, seven in all, were Harvard classmates of the groom, who graduated in '97.

The bride, who is a Vincent Club girl, is accomplished, well traveled and exceedingly fond of outdoor sports. It was on the eve of her departure for the Azores with her father last Spring that announcement was made of her engagement.

She is extremely popular and has been acknowledged belle in the world of smart society ever since her debut. Her connections on both sides are large and fashionable, she is an exceptionally fine looking girl, with excellent physique and exquisite coloring.

At the Garfield-Emmons wedding in Falmouth last month she was easily the most attractive girl present. She spent the Summer with her father at their place on the Cape, where she devoted her time almost exclusively to yachting, walking, driving and golfing.

Mr. Parker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fay Parker of Southville. He has recently purchased thirty acres of land in Dover, upon which he is to build a large brick house for an all the-year-round home.

SAY LANDLORDS SEEK TO GRAB MALDEN HOMES

Declare Sixty-five More Families Threaten to Join in Tenants' War.

LYNN, Nov. 2.—That the Jewish landlords of Lynn, who have increased rents from $11 to $32 per month in the last six weeks, and thereby brought on a tenants' strike, propose to take similar action in Malden is the charge made to-day by L. A. Hugo, president of the Lynn Tenants' Protective Association. He charges that the Lynn landlords are buying land and houses in Malden, and that once there for Jewish tenants will soon be increased as they have been in Lynn.

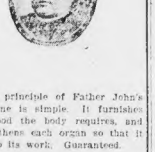
A committee representing the tenants makes a final effort this afternoon to get the landlords to restore their rent. If the matter is not adjusted President Hugo says that on Monday sixty-five more Jewish families will join the strikers and refuse to pay what they term exorbitant rents. This will make a total of seventy-five families on strike.

At a mass meeting of the tenants to-night at Lasters' Hall J. Goodwin of Boston, president of the Boston Bakers' Union, is to be the principal speaker. All nationalities have been organized to lend aid to the striking tenants.

The legal end of the affair began when a warrant was sworn out for the arrest of Fred S. Fessenden, who led in the eviction of Benjamin Hubstein, is charged by Fessenden's fellows. Hubstein, who was threatened with blood poisoning because of cuts he received during the eviction, has recovered, and the hearing will be held as soon as Fessenden is able to be in court.

CLARK ASSOCIATES ELECT.

At their regular meeting last night the Edgar H. Clark Association of Ward 9 elected the following officers: President, Michael Myers; vice-president, Max Philipp; recording secretary, Samuel Carnicoui; financial secretary, David Clark; treasurer, Louis Lowenstein, and sergeant-at-arms, Max Plesh.



The principle of Father John's Medicine is simple. It furnishes the food the body requires, and strengthens each organ so that it can do its work. Guaranteed.

"Standard Oil Is an Issue in This Election"

Candidate Hisgen for State Auditor Has Zero SUCCESSFULLY Fighting the Rockefeller "System"

In the attention that has been given John B. Moran and E. Gerry Brown, whom YOU have selected to represent the people in their fight against the trusts and their candidates, the good people of Massachusetts have nearly lost sight of the fact that through one of the candidates of the Independence League and Democratic party, the Standard Oil Company and its billionaire master, John D. Rockefeller, is an issue in this campaign.

There is little we can tell you about Standard Oil that you do not know. The octopus tentacles of "the system" have reached every corner of this country until there is hardly a boy in school who does not know that Standard Oil represents all that is monopolistic, unfair, and un-American in our government.

It has its servants in Congress, in legislatures, in every branch of our government. Through its business representatives it controls lawmakers and those who are supposed to be law-enforcers.

You know who Kidder, Peabody & Co. are for in this campaign. They are for Guild, Draper and all the rest of the candidates upon the Republican State ticket.

One of these candidates is State Auditor Henry E. Turner of Malden. He holds the office at the present time. How he has administered his trust was the subject of a speech by District Attorney Moran a night or two ago. "I find," said Mr. Moran, "that a voucher for $77 has been removed from the Auditor's office by Fairbank, or some one under him. In either case he is guilty, and I demand his removal by the Governor. I charge the Auditor with crime in allowing a voucher filed in his office to be removed. * * * If one voucher can be removed from the Auditor's office, a thousand may. If one commission can allow $100,000 to go unaudited, several hundred thousand dollars can go in the same way."

Since the above was spoken Mr. Turner has ADMITTED that the voucher was given to one Fairbank, a man under fire, in return for $77, its face value. If the voucher was evidence of any sort, THAT EVIDENCE IS NOW LOST.

There has also been made a demand that Mr. Turner retire from the contest for re-election. Mr. Turner will pay no attention to the demand. YOU can see that it becomes effective election day, however.

Don't you think the man who has fought Standard Oil to a standstill in western Massachusetts is a good enough business man to be elected State Auditor?

The man who is running against Turner is Thomas L. Hisgen of West Springfield, who is known far and wide throughout the western part of the State as the man who has SUCCESSFULLY fought Standard Oil in a business way for years.

Mr. Hisgen was a poor boy. He is not wealthy to-day but he and his three brothers have built up an independent oil business that Standard Oil has been unable to crush, although it has tried for years.

He is a type of a successful business man. He is earnest, honest and stubborn. If he hadn't been Rockefeller would have bought him out or driven him out long ago.

When Hisgen and his brothers opened their tank stations in West Springfield, Pittsfield, North Dana and East Hampton, kerosene oil, sold by the Standard Oil Company, was thirteen cents a gallon. There is a fair margin of profit in oil at eight and a half cents a gallon. The Hisgens sold it at that price.

The "system," unable to BUY out Thomas L. Hisgen and his brothers, resorted to its usual tactics and tried to FORCE them out by cutting under their price. To-day Standard Oil is sold in the districts covered by the Hisgens for from five to seven and a half cents a gallon to the dealers. The Hisgens sell for eight and one-half cents. They cannot sell for less except at a loss.

The people of western Massachusetts buy Independent Oil. They know from the past that if they should buy Standard Oil and assist in driving the Hisgens out of business, the Standard price would at once go up to its old figure and higher, and that THEY THEMSELVES WOULD IN THE END PAY ALL LOSSES OF THE SYSTEM IN ITS FIGHT. Standard Oil is no nearer driving "Tom" Hisgen out of the State to-day than it was when it began.

Consumers of kerosene oil in Eastern Massachusetts pay four cents MORE than a fair margin of profit. THE PRICE OF OIL IN BOSTON TO-DAY IS THIRTEEN CENTS. In the western part of the State the retail price is nine cents.

Don't you think the man who has fought Standard Oil to a standstill in western Massachusetts is a good enough business man to be elected State Auditor?

Don't you think he DESERVES election to a position of trust for his service to the people of his State?

When you come to the place of State Auditor on your ballot, Tuesday, remember that there is a distinct issue in the contest for THAT office.

If you approve of paying five cents more a gallon for oil than is fair you will vote for Henry E. Turner.

A vote for Turner is a vote satisfactory to Kidder, Peabody & Co., Massachusetts representatives of the Standard Oil system.

A vote for the Independence League ticket, which includes John B. Moran, E. Gerry Brown AND Thomas L. Hisgen, is a vote AGAINST ROCKEFELLER, ROGERS AND THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY.

DANA KNEW WHAT GUILD WANTED--MORAN

DECLARES FORMER WAS CONFIDANT OF THE WISHES OF GOVERNOR ON OVERTIME BILL.

Special to the Boston American.

GLOUCESTER, Nov. 2.—John B. Moran, Democratic and Independence League candidate for Governor, captured the North Shore district last night in three of the largest political rallies ever held in Salem, Marblehead and Gloucester. The halls in all three places were taxed to their utmost capacity. Enthusiasm ran high, and although Mr. Moran did not arrive here until 10:50 o'clock, he held his audience until after midnight. Over 4,500 heard the speaker at the three rallies.

Mr. Moran arrived in Salem at 7:12 o'clock. 1,500 people packed the Armory rink to suffocation and over 500 were turned away. The night previous a Republican rally drew 2,000. Moran received at the outset an ovation lasting over five minutes.

"Guild's dignity," said Mr. Moran. "Why, Mr. Guild, you are not challenged to meet me in a public discussion as Governor of Massachusetts and not myself as District Attorney of Suffolk County. I challenge you as a candidate for re-election as Governor on the Republican ticket and as a candidate for three parties." (Applause). "What! Is Guild afraid to lose his dignity, for he knows I would answer every question he put to me, but he is afraid that when I made him vouch his record as to his platform and his relations to corporations and gambling shops, the people would condemn him." (Applause).

A Question of Friendship.

Referring to the Overtime Bill, Mr. Moran said: "You now say, Governor Guild, that you favor this bill, but it is too late now. Governor Guild, your term of office is almost over, and mine is just about to begin. (Cheers and applause.)

"Last night Governor Guild said Mr. Dana's father and his father were old friends and that Dana was a friend of his friends.

"Yes, Governor Guild, your father and Dana's were old friends. Yes, you and Dana were old, close friends, inseparable, and when he as presiding officer of the Senate met you day in and day out in confidential friendly communication with each other he learned from you what you wanted of him on the Overtime Bill, and (Loud applause.)

"Why didn't you say to Dana in the quiet, confidential talk you and with him: 'Your father and mine are old friends. You and I are old friends. I am with the women and children on the Overtime bill, and I want you to do justice by them and defeat the Overtime bill' (Applause.) Let me say to you, Governor Guild, that no man is a select man for judges or any other position I will not select incompetent friends, I will not select corporation grafters, I will not select an anti man. I want the best for all the offices, and my friends, either of my parents or of myself will allow me to appoint an unfit man." (Wild applause.)

The "Immunity Bath."

Taking up the questions Governor Guild asked him about the case of John A. Flanagan, Mr. Moran said that it was Governor Guild and Attorney-General Malone who were responsible for the non-prosecution being defended in that instance; that it was they who allowed Flanagan to take an immunity bath and that if it had not been for summoning Flanagan before the legislative committee and there allowing him to give testimony, not testimony that would involve his other gambling friends on a charge of bribery, they would not have successfully defeated the District Attorney of Suffolk County. He declared this action to be responsible for the exemption of Flanagan and his friends from prosecution and said that when he, John B. Moran, was Governor, a new immunity law would do away with such practices.

He defended Governor Guild for his recollection's answering him that he was in collusion with Flanagan. Mr. Moran asserted that he did not even know Flanagan. He said that what the District Attorney wanted to prove was that Flanagan was behind the J. J. Quinlan Company, but that when Flanagan went before the legislative committee and testified he was exempt from prosecution. He asserted that Dana Malone knew this and that he also knew, as every intelligent lawyer in the State knows, that after this action of the District Attorney could do was to file a paper in law.

"That, Governor Guild, is your answer," said Mr. Moran. "Governor Guild, I defy your record in dishonating questions. I refer to plain English language, and when I do put my questions they carry conviction with them, and you and your "Boss," Lodge, cannot answer them." (Applause.

"Unfit Either Way."

"Governor Guild and Attorney-General Dana Malone, you did not hope for conviction so as to bribery Dana Flanagan. You all knew just as well as Flanagan knew that I couldn't prosecute him further. Realizing that the district attorney has an indictment, realizing that the District Attorney was trying to obtain evidence to indict other members of the Legislature, Republican and Democratic, it had to be dug it from their reluctant lips, you all combined not only to protect Flanagan but also John D. Flanagan.

"Guild, answer to this or let Malone answer for you. Let Guild say he was ignorant of the immunity bath. He has done so is not fit to be elected Governor, and he says he was not ignorant. He was in collusion with Flanagan, and is therefore not fit to be Governor.

"Fellow citizens, Democratic papers. I want the people to know about this way the papers have been bought." (Applause.)

In this morning's Boston Globe, Guild and his speakers had five columns, Moran and his speakers had two. (Applause and hisses.)

The Boston Post, another Democratic paper, gave Guild and his staff two columns, while one and a half came to Moran. That's good Democratic doctrine. (Applause and hisses.)

Will Fight Till He Wins.

"I demand that the people by their applause cause the press to give full and impartial reports of this campaign. (Two minutes' applause.)

"I do not charge that the larger number of papers are owned by corruptionists, but I do charge that they owe their bread and butter to the large firms, railroads, banks and corporations who pay them the money they feed on.

"If you think, Mr. Editor of the Globe and Mr. Editor of the Post, that by withholding from the people the news of neglect of my office duties which are made against me by Republican papers and by printing Hill's speech and Guild's speech, I will be defeated, I want you to understand that if I am defeated that I don't believe I will be this fall, in spite of you Democratic leaders and your methods and unelected, I will lead the Democracy as the candidate for Governor until I can by my voice reach the people throughout the State in every city, town and ward, and then I will do as I did in the Fall last year, get the intelligent vote of the people, and I will win the Governorship, in spite of you, some day. If I don't I'll be back." (Tremendous applause.)

"If the Democratic organs will not support me let them bolt me openly. Let them show the courage of their convictions, and I dare them to do it. (Applause.)

No Money to Buy Space.

"I want you to note that the audience which crowded the hall to the doors, to the hallways, down the stairs, applauded me as I denounced the Democratic papers." (Wild applause.) This year I am unable to buy space in the Democratic papers, the people in the papers. I have not money enough to purchase my numbers of my blocks in either the Democratic or Republican papers like Platt.

Mr. Moran said that on Monday the force in the Faulkner office would be presented to the Grand Jury, that he would then be doing duty as one of the people, and that Governor Guild had not done his duty.

Mr. Moran said he wanted to know what "Jake" Wardwell got with the $25,000 which the gas corporation gave to him when the Legislature was in session. He said that no memorandum was made on the books when this amount was handed to Mr. Wardwell, and asked if any good business man would give such a sum to "Jake" Wardwell $25,000 unless he knew what was being done with it.

Mr. Moran demanded that Governor Guild give to the people the names of the lawyers whom he was considering from time to time for appointment to the bench. He made a vehement appeal for justice and mercy toward petty offenders as District Attorney. He said:

"I could have thrown my own personal office into the trials of boys by day, I could have matched my power as a jury lawyer with the best at the Suffolk bar, and with a prosecution prepared by the police department I could have secured convictions

"To Reform, Not to Punish."

"I could have made a larger record for sentences, and then I would have been praised by Guild, Dana Malone, Barlow, Romans and others. But I am a human being. I was raised the child of struggling parents. I lived among the poor and unfortunate. I worked as a common school pupil in the rattan works, and sometimes while I attended for a few afternoons while I attended for four years for Wakefield High School. What I am I owe to the public schools. What I am as a lawyer I owe to my own perseverance, to the energy that exists in me.

"I know what the temptations of life are. I know that human nature at best is frail. I sympathize with those who are not properly raised, whose circumstances make them petty criminals. I made up my mind that as District Attorney I would do strict justice to all. I knew that the law was not only to punish people, but the reform them whose reformation was possible, and I made up my mind that I would convert as many unfortunate petty offenders into good citizens as I could.

"I carried my human heart within my breast when I entered the District Attorney's office. I was human every minute I was there. I ignored the mere politicians and had gentlemen of the bars from clergymen—Protestant, Catholic and Hebrew—in commendation of the course and in behalf of the unfortunates whose cases came under my direction. For this I am criticised and abused, but upon the record of that office I am willing to stand or fall. (Applause.)

Mr. Moran had a trip to Marblehead, where George H. Thornburn was chairman, in an automobile. He addressed the biggest Democratic rally Marblehead has ever had, and received a tremendous ovation.

The candidate and his party went by train to Gloucester, where through a misunderstanding he was compelled to walk to the city hall, half a mile from the station, but he soon forgot the incident in the warmth of the applause that greeted him.

Charles A. Russell was chairman of the Gloucester rally, which was the biggest and most enthusiastic Cape Ann has ever seen.

BATES SPEAKS TO LESS THAN 60 AT AMESBURY RALLY

AMESBURY, Nov. 2.—At one of the smallest Republican rallies ever held in this town, ex-Governor Bates delivered an address in the Town Hall last evening. Less than sixty people were present. The speaker did not enter into State politics to any extent, and nothing his long speech referred to Governor Guild and Draper. He spoke of the prosperity of the country under Republican administration. His subject at the meeting was to aid Congressman Gardner in his fight for re-election.

CARPENTERS APPROVE BROWN; DENOUNCE STEVENS FOR SENATE

E. Gerry Brown has been unanimously indorsed for Lieutenant-Governor by Somerville Carpenters' Union No. 620. Resolutions were also adopted condemning Elmer E. Stevens, candidate for the Senate, as follows:

Whereas, Elmer E. Stevens, a candidate for the Massachusetts Senate from the Middlesex district, comprising the city of Somerville, has by his votes and utterances shown himself to be opposed to labor measures that have been brought before that body during the last session, especially in regard to the overtime bill, women and minors, therefore, be it

Resolved, that the members of Local 620 U. B. of C. & J. denounce his attitude on the overtime bill and his hostile attitude toward those measures and call on all wage earners in Somerville to defeat the candidate of the wage-earners, to administer a crushing rebuke to his opinions by casting their vote against Mr. Stevens on election day.

GUILD'S OVERTIME RECORD ATTACKED AT DEDHAM RALLY

DEDHAM, Nov. 2.—Governor Guild's attitude on the overtime bill was bitterly attacked and the anti-labor records of Representative Joseph H. Soliday of Dedham, candidate for re-election, and Representative William O. Faxon, candidate for the Senate, vigorously assailed at a rally held in Memorial Hall last evening, under the auspices of the local Wage Earners' Club and the Democratic City Committee.

The speakers were Alderman Frank J. Lyman of Ward 6, Ward Wall of Worcester, vice-president of the State branch of the American Federation of Labor, John G. Cahill of Marlboro, A. W. Morrison of Cohasset and William G. Greenaway of Needham, Democratic candidate for the Senate.

MOTHERHOOD.

Its Pains and Penalties Relieved by Dr. Greene's Nervura.

Only a woman knows what it means to become a mother! The terrible physical ordeal, the mental anguish!

Many women give their lives' many more live only to pay for maternity with constant suffering!

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy gives speedy relief and cure for all such troubles. Read what Mrs. Louis M. Hoghin of Cedarville N. J., says:

"It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. My case was doubtless similar to thousands of others. Ever since my daughter was born I had been in failing health, until I was almost a physical wreck. My nerves were so shattered that at times my mind seemed almost a blank. Several physicians told me that my only hope lay in the knife.

"Two months ago I began to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, rather as an experiment at first. I can truthfully say that I am being positively and permanently cured. I am gaining in flesh and strength. I feel that I owe my existence to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy."

All women who hope to become mothers should take Dr. Greene's Nervura to fortify the system for the supreme effort of childbirth. Consult Dr. Greene himself free at 34 Temple Pl., Boston, Mass., personally or by mail.

and is about three hundred feet from the Bowes Kernick Lease with a production to date of $1,800,000. The Mohawk Extension lies between the Silver Pick and Red Top and is an extension of the Mohawk, the latter now generally conceded to be the greatest gold mine in the world. The Mohawk Extension lease is about four hundred feet from the following leases with a production as follows:

MACKENZIE	$1,000 A DAY
KALFUS	5,000 A DAY
BRADBURY CURTIS	7,000 A DAY
SHEETS ISH	10,000 A DAY
FRANCES-MOHAWK	50,000 A DAY

and about five hundred feet from the world famous Hayes Monnette with a monthly output of $2,000,000. It will thus be seen that the Mohawk Jumbo Leasing Syndicate properties are surrounded by Bonanza mines and a comparison of prices will show that this is really one of the most extraordinary investment opportunities of recent years. What the possibilities are can best be shown by giving the results of surrounding properties. The Great Mohawk, the adjoining property, which is quoted at fifteen dollars a share, sold at eleven cents a share in January last. Red Top, two hundred feet to the North, sold at $4.25 a share this week, while a year ago it was twenty cents. Silver Pick, adjoining on the West, sold at $1.60 this week, while six months ago it was begging at eight cents.

THERE IS NOT A PROPERTY IN THIS ENTIRE DISTRICT THAT DOES NOT SHOW A HANDSOME ADVANCE OVER QUOTATIONS OF SIX MONTHS AGO AND A PURCHASE OF THIS, THE FIRST OFFERING OF TREASURY STOCK OF THE MOHAWK JUMBO LEASING SYNDICATE, PRESENTS POSSIBILITIES OF PROFIT EQUAL TO ANYTHING IN THE DISTRICT.

The Syndicate is officered by men who have achieved marked success here on the ground, the board of directors being composed of such men as J. R. DAVIS, of Loftus & Davis, who opened and developed the GREAT SANDSTORM mine. Mr. Davis is the principal owner and vice-president of the GOLD BAR, the famous mine of the Bullfrog district, as well as being vice-president and principal owner of the NEVADA HILLS, the principal mine at Fairview. H. T. Bragdon, vice-president, is also president of the GOLDFIELD MINING COMPANY and president of the GOLDFIELD STOCK EXCHANGE. Mr. Bragdon is prominently identified with many of the most successful enterprises of Goldfield, and is also president of the MOHAWK JUMBO LEASING COMPANY operating the Truitt Lease which returned to its shareholders on its first dividend the amount of their investment of twenty-five cents per share. SAMUEL R. MASON, Jr., president of the CALIFORNIA BORAX COMPANY; AUGUSTUS TILDEN and E. H. LATIMER complete the board. MAJOR W. A. STANTON, manager and consulting engineer, is one of the most favorably known engineers in Goldfield, and has no superior in his knowledge of the district. Under his direction the work is proceeding at a rapid rate, with double shifts of men at work on each property. The shaft on the Jumbo is down sixty-four feet, while on the Mohawk it is down one hundred feet, and has already cut a stringer of ore running one thousand dollars to the ton, showing close proximity to big ore body, which is likely to come in with any shot. Two twenty-horse power gasoline hoists have been ordered, and will be on the grounds within fifteen days. There is no reason why the Syndicate should not be shipping within thirty days; dividends should quickly follow, and in all probability the first one will equal the price of the treasury shares as was done on the Truitt Lease and scores of others. This will be the first, last and only offering of treasury stock at twenty-five cents per share, so ACT QUICKLY IF AT ALL.

Reservations should be made by telegraph to insure consideration and remittance by bank draft or certified check must be forwarded immediately after allotment is made, otherwise allotment will be void.

LOU CRIGER NOT ASKED TO LEAD.

ELKHART, Ind., Nov. 2.—That management of Boston's team has been offered him was positively denied by Lou Criger, the famous backstop, in an interview today.

"The report is false and positively without foundation," said Criger, when the subject was broached. "I have had no communication from the Boston Americans since I closed with the team several weeks ago except that I was pushandled for a letter when they informed me Stahl was to be married. There is no likelihood that any player will get the management. I understand that Stahl is a stockholder of Milwaukee was in line for the place. Of course, were the management tendered me I might accept.

Criger reiterated several times that the management had not been offered him. He does not believe that either Stahl or Freeman are to be considered, and says that without Collins for team he would be most disaster. What Boston needs, said Criger, is nine good men, not three or four good and the remainder extremely bad players.

BUCK FREEMAN NOT OFFERED MANAGER'S JOB

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 2.—Buck Freeman of this city said today when asked if he was to be manager of the Boston Americans:

"I have not been informed of the fact yet. The place has not been offered to me and I have no idea that I am being considered for it. What's the matter with Stahl? I understood that he was to be the manager in case Collins does not return. I even believe that the management of the team had been offered to him and that he had accepted the offer. As for me, I have not had any intimation that the owners of the club considered me as a possibility of the management and no overtures of any kind have been made to me."

BOSTON LATIN WON'T DISBAND

Elcock and Amadon, contrary to first announcement, have resumed the requirements at Boston Latin, and the football situation has taken on a brighter hue, and the eleven will not have to be disbanded as expected. Only five players of the regulars, it has been found, are ineligible and twelve of the second team.

Dorothy Dix Says Most Wives Would Be Glad to Be Treated as Well as Their Husbands' Employes in the Third of Her

Ten Commandments for Married Men

Treat Your Wife as Well as You Do a Stranger

BY DOROTHY DIX

THE third commandment of the married man is this:

Thou shalt treat thy wife as thou dost the stranger within thy gates: yea, even as thy best customer shalt thou treat her.

It would probably startle a good many complacent husbands if they knew that their wives would be glad and thankful to be treated as well as they treat their cooks, and that they would go about bragging about their luck if they were treated with the consideration and gallantry that their husbands extend to their typewriters, or any other employe who could give notice and quit when her feelings were unduly trampled upon.

Of course there are some men who are always tender, chivalrous and polite to their wives, but, unfortunately, this number is so small that most of us can count on two or three fingers of one hand all the paragons we have personally known.

In the majority of cases the conduct of the average man runs the gamut from indifference and neglect, through brusqueness and boorishness, down to absolute brutality.

The hardest thing in the world seems to be for a man to realize that a woman can be his wife and still be entitled to be treated as a lady.

This sounds like a sweeping statement, but on the day of judgment the scars on millions of women's hearts will bear bitter witness to its truth.

Such a Difference

IF you want to see how much of a gentleman, and how little of a gentleman, a man can be, watch him with other women, and with his own wife.

Let any woman of fairly good looks and fairly good clothes cross his pathway, and he will give you, ladies and gentlemen, a perfect imitation of the Chevalier Bayard.

If she enters a room, he is on his feet in an instant to give her a chair. If she drops her fan, he springs to restore it to her. If she wants a window up or down, he is ready to yank his suspender button off grappling with it for her. If she expresses an opinion, no matter how silly, he listens to it as if it were the words of an oracle. If she tells a joke, though it be mouldy and cheesecutty, he spills his sides laughing at it.

But if the woman is his wife—

She may get herself a chair. She may grovel in the mud if she drops anything. If she expresses an opinion on a public question, he tells her she doesn't know what she is talking about, and if she is daring enough to tell a joke he coldly reminds her that he read that in the paper six weeks ago, and that she hasn't any more sense of humor than a hen, anyway.

Nay, more than that. The average man pokes his wife in the butt of his own witticisms, and when he gets funny it is almost invariably at her expense. How often, oh, how sadly, sadly often are the woman's anxieties about her children, her little economies, her mistaken charities, her little vanities and weaknesses, even her pathetic efforts to please the brute who is torturing her, made to furnish forth the entertainment at a dinner table.

I have sat at such a board, and so have you, and listened to the host's jokes about his wife, while the woman's eyes swam in tears, and she bit her lips to try to hide their trembling.

And the man expected us to laugh. I could sooner have guffawed at the sight of wild beasts tearing a poor, tormented martyr to pieces to make a Roman holiday.

Rough on the Wife

THAT wives stand this, that they permit themselves to be ridiculed and insulted year after year without hurling the coffee pot at the head of the man who does it, or seasoning his mince pies with a little cyanide of potassium, is an enduring testimonial to the angelic nature of woman that ought to give her a passport through the pearly gates, with no questions asked as to the balance of her record.

There is no use in trying to locate the brutal code of manners of husbands toward wives in the slums.

It obtains in our very best families, and there is many a man who is publicly regarded, and who regards himself, as a pretty Christian gentleman who habitually talks to his wife in a way that he would not dare talk to any other woman who had voice to call the police.

Men excuse themselves for this by saying they do it through thoughtlessness and carelessness, but this is all nonsense.

You never see a man so thoughtless that he doesn't remember to regard the susceptibilities and feelings of a rich woman who is his star patient or client, or who runs a big bill at his store. Dear, no, butter wouldn't melt in his mouth as he commences to bear upon her little idiosyncrasies, and as for jollying her—well, the tact and suavity he can develop at a moment's notice are wonderful.

Now, why should not some of this politeness, some of this courtesy, some of these compliments be for domestic consumption? It takes as little to make a woman happy—just a little tenderness, just a little thoughtfulness, just a little appreciation now and then.

All that a woman asks of her husband is to treat her as decently as he would a stranger.

Pretty rough on her, isn't it, truthful lady in search of a good complexion from going out. As a matter of fact, dampness as a special thing for the complexion, providing you are well wrapped up, and wear some dingy-gray boots. Don't miss the chance of taking a good brisk walk in the rain.

Needless to add, you should see that you change all your clothes the moment you return home, otherwise the dampness of your other unpleasant and painful ailment may make you regret the day you took that trip and neglected it.

In many cases a wonderful improvement in the complexion may be obtained by thoroughly washing the face several times a day with the following lotion, leaving it on till it dries: Take half the ounce of glycerine, and mix with it half a pint of orange flower water. To this add a dessertspoonful of powdered borax.

Blackheads are very tiresome and unsightly, and are the despair of many girls, who then come to me and say: "I am living in an unnatural condition, in which case it is wise to consult a doctor or get a tonic, which is sure to be needed.

Constipation, however, is usually the cause of the presence of these blackheads, and this can often be overcome by using the simple expedient of eating an apple every morning before breakfast. A glass of water taken last thing at night may also be strongly recommended.

Valuable Aids to a Good Complexion

A BLOTCHY skin is the bane of every woman who takes any pride in her personal appearance.

This is a condition of the complexion that may arise through many causes, the principal ones of which are errors in diet, lack of outdoor exercise and, to a far lesser degree, the cold, cutting wind of Winter.

To protect the skin against the latter in fairly good measure, a thick veil is useful when outdoors proving sufficient.

In addition, care should be taken to avoid changing abruptly from one temperature to another. The middle course is one of all-importance to the woman who sighs for a nice soft skin.

She must avoid, at all costs, food of a rich and greasy nature, and forswear entirely her favorite sweets.

Instead of these she must take in plenty. Let her seize every possible opportunity to get out of doors. Cycling and walking are splendid exercises, and if sensibly indulged in will soon bring the color to the cheek.

Even the fact that it may be raining should not be sufficient to deter the young

POINTERS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS

A CAPITAL HINT

PUT a pinch of powdered borax in the water in which you wash your lettuce, and allow the latter to steep for half to three-quarters of an hour in the solution; then either shake them free of moisture in the salad basket or break up the lettuce, and after well draining them, wipe each individual leaf clean. Salted water softens and wilts the leaves, but borax, while freeing them from extraneous matter, leaves them quite crisp and fresh.

PIN AND RING CASE

A USEFUL case for hatpins, pins and rings is made of a piece of fancy ribbon with one of soft flannel tacked on to it, and the two bound with narrow ribbon. At one end are sewn two or three little pieces of chamois leather, pinked round the edges. This is to stick the pins into. At the other end a little bag is made, which draws together at the rim, and is intended for rings. The hatpins are run into the lining, and the whole case is rolled and tied with ribbon.

A Romance of Love and Mystery

CHAPTER XI.
Woman's Weakness

Copyright, 1906, by American-Journal-Examiner

"HUH," standing with his back to the mantel shelf, revealed to me a fact that was both extraordinary and horrifying.

"After you left Bayside yesterday," he said, "I was walking across the grounds to meet Cynthia, who'd gone out to pay a visit, when, quite unexpectedly, I came across Ellice standing talking to a rather badly dressed young woman. She was in shabby black, with a brown straw hat trimmed with violets, and an old fur tibbet around her neck. They were under a tree a little aside from the path that leads across to the railroad station, and were speaking excitedly. I was walking on the grass and they did not hear me approach. Suddenly she made some statement which caused him to dart back and think.

Then he gave her some money hurriedly from his pocket, and after a further conversation they parted, she proceeding toward Bayside road, and Winslow went in the direction of the house. I followed at a respectable distance, and when I came soon he announced that he had been suddenly recalled to town, and suspected something, so when he left I followed him here."

"Well?" I asked, looking straight into his face.

"Well, he's in search of Tibbie."

"Of Tibbie! What does he know?"

"That woman who met him in the park told him something, she probably knew of your appointment."

"Why?"

"Because this morning he went to the hotel and inquired for her. But, you had very fortunately taken her away."

Then if he knows of our appointment, he will certainly follow me!" I said in utter amazement.

"Most certainly he will. You recognize the grave peril of the situation?"

Who Was the Woman?

"I do." I said, for I saw that Sibyl must at once be seriously compromised. "But who could have known our secret? Who was the woman?"

"I've never seen her before. She's an entire stranger. But that she is aware of Tibbie's movements is beyond doubt. You were evidently seen together when you met last night—or how else do you know that she slept at the hotel?"

"Why, then, I saw the very serious danger that now lay before me. Yet why should men in search of Tibbie? He had proposed to her, she had said, and had been refused.

I revelled in my companion the fact of Ellice's proposal, and the shock the latter found in his suit cause.

"Then," Erle said, "He has recognized the victim, but has some secret motive in concealing Tibbie. If it, I wonder, a motive of revenge?"

"Against whom?"

For a few moments he did not speak. Then he answered,

"Against Tibbie."

I jumped my lips, for I discerned his meaning. Was it possible that Ellice Winslow knew the truth?

"Therefore, what are we to do? What do you suggest?" I asked.

"You must not risk going to see Sibyl to-morrow. Where is she?"

I briefly explained all that we had done that day, and how and where she had gone into hiding.

"Then you must send her a special delivery letter in the morning. You must not go to see her. You are certainly watched."

"But think of her," I said. "I am posing as her husband, and she will require my presence there. Besides, in order to complete the fiction."

"It is too risky—far too risky," Erle declared, shaking his head dubiously.

"The only way is for you to keep watch upon Winslow," I suggested, "and warn me of his movements."

"But the woman—the woman who met him by appointment? She may be in his employ as a spy."

Did Marie overhear anything that night when Sibyl came to my room, I wonder?" I said.

"Never mind how they got to know," he exclaimed. "I tell you that you mustn't go near Tibbie. It's far too dangerous at this moment."

His words caused me considerable apprehension. How could I leave Sibyl there alone? Would not Mrs. Williams and her daughter greet me in a very hostile manner? I had promised Sibyl that I would return before the fiction."

My companion threatened to resign the fiction."

"I must be because so many women are shown in a hurry," she said, "otherwise they would take more time and buy things that really do them instead of just picking up the first thing they come across because they're in a hurry. Then, too, we are always the fault of the milliners or the dealers in glasses or shoes or whom. These people cautious to please their customers, who are too often in such a hurry that they forget not to tell, but to take some thing that does not fit.

"Then, having saved some time, and possibly a little money, these same customers proceed to waste more than they saved. I would care to acknowledge in coming to me to remove the effect of their hasty clothing. This last," and she turned to her oddly contrasting bosom, "was one large in the cream and too heavy. The pinkish tint is very evident against the laces, and all I can do now is to dye the silver lairs on her temples.

"The light was dim, right at the neckband and wrinkled the wearer's neck, while the right hands of the short sleeves have ruined the appearance of the lady's hands.

"Then there is the museum in this rather unusual museum are a pair of shoes, gloves, a hat, a belt and a blouse, and each one tells its story so plainly that one doesn't have to put two and two together to decide why the beautiful pelisse has such stress on their worth as friends.

"The shoes are run over at the heel, and have slides that bulge over the sole, the gloves are stained and gape at every seam, the blouse has a collar and cuffs that are out of shape, and the hat, while a very nice looking article of headgear, is quite out of style.

The misfit manda, according to the enterprising beauty specialist, has the greatest fascination for numbers of women, therefore she has started her museum in order to show them how and where their wrinkles can be avoided.

Newest Styles for Children's Wear

THE muscadine effect is popular for an ages and sizes this season, and it is even prettier for little girls' frocks than for those of larger growth. The long waists that are really more like deep yokes are seen on many of the new models in girls' dresses and these having the fashionable large armhole.

Such a bolero in lace of hand-embroidered muslin makes a charming addition to a girl's frock of accordion pleated silk or voile. Many of the styles now in vogue demand just such a touch of art and other short jackets of the same material, and these waists are quite an item in the wardrobe of the girl of twelve or fourteen years.

Owing to the sheerness and pliability of many of the dress fabrics that are now popular, smocking is again fashionable, and the thread used being either of a decidedly contrasting color or else it exactly matches the material.

A wide mode of decoration is most effective, and is particularly charming for little frocks made in the pretty woven stuffs for frocks, however, are most suitable for girls who are slender, not for those who are inclined to shortness and chubbiness.

As on women's gowns, fancy buttons, irridescent shimmings of all descriptions and finest will be fashionable for ornamenting children's clothes, and corresponding with such trimmings gilt and silver slippers will also be popular, worn with white openwork stockings for party and dancing frocks.

For the ever useful low-cut suit that is part of the outfit of every small boy or girl there are new emblems and chevrons done in gilt and silver, as well as colors.

Buns, anchors, eagles and stars in the greatest variety may be purchased ready to put on if the suit is made at home, or to order, and these decorations are not considered sufficiently elaborate.

One of the prettiest of this year's fancies is the very general use of plaids for children's clothes. The pleated little dresses in plaids are seen for girls of all sizes from the little tot of two and a half to the nearly grown sister. Plaid is used in combinations, too, with materials in solid colors, with very good effect.

A pretty little frock showing this combination is of Scotch plaid, with plaited skirt and jacket and narrow belt of the same material.

She Advises Her Readers to Do Their Duty Cheerfully, No Matter How Disagreeable the Task

By Beatrice Fairfax

IF you have an unpleasant duty to get through with, do it without whining. Whining won't make it seem a bit easier and only spoils the pleasant consciousness of having done your duty.

It is not always easy to smile in such circumstances, and it requires great self-control, but if you can manage it you will be much happier afterward.

To do a kind act in an ungracious manner robs it of more than half its virtue. It is simply a case of the old cow that, having given a splendid pail of milk, proceeded to kick it over.

I know a woman who is constantly sacrificing herself for her friends, but she does it in such a martyred, ungracious manner that they would much prefer that she did not make the sacrifice.

Half the pleasure in receiving a kindness comes from the loving, kindly way in which the act is performed.

You know yourself how much it chagrins you to accept a grudging favor.

If we could all learn the great lesson of doing unto others as we would have them do unto us how much happier a world it would be. The trouble is that most of us would like to make our own rules and those of others as well.

None of us can have things go our way all the time. Some are more fortunate than others in that respect, but even the most fortunate are apt to run against contrary streams of fortune once in a while.

When things do go contrary to our wishes it is much wiser to accept the inevitable and make the best of it.

People do love to see a smiling, cheerful worker.

A grouchy, gloomy face spoils everything.

Perhaps you are doing work that you do not care for and find it hard to put any heart or interest into it.

If so get out of it as soon as you can, but in the meantime try and get through it as cheerfully as possible.

Just say to yourself: "It is disagreeable work, and I do not like it, but I am not going to let a piece of ungenial work spoil a lasting sour on my nature. I am determined to conquer it."

So don't spoil your kind actions by going about them as though you were the most abused person in the world.

Cheerful determination will make even the hardest of jobs easier.

Go about your work with the brave resolve to do it to the best of your ability, and to do it in a gracious, kindly manner.

BEEF ROULADE

TWO pounds of tender beefsteak, cut half an inch thick, cut in slices of breakfast bacon and slit onions very fine; add a little salt and pepper; mix well and spread evenly over the steak. Then roll it up carefully and tie with twine to keep it in place. Dredge well with flour and place in baking pan, in which have heated previously enough lard and butter to keep from burning; brown well, browning all over, turning frequently. Then add a generous pint of boiling water, six cloves, three bay leaves, a little more salt and pepper, and cover with another baking pan, let roast an hour and a half longer, basting frequently and turning occasionally. Add boiling water as it boils away, so there is at least a half pint of "gravy" to serve with the roast. This is delicious and is also splendid cold, sliced thin, for sandwiches.

HERE is an excellent and most economical dish to be eaten with roast beef: Into two heaping tablespoons flour, to which a pinch of salt has been added, break one egg; add enough milk to mix; then add sufficient cold milk to make the consistency of cream; pour in the dripping pan under roast beef and bake half an hour. This is enough for three persons.

Can MONEY Carry This Election?

THE reports that are being received from all over Massachusetts as to the public sentiment in regard to next Tuesday's election leave little doubt as to the intention of the people.

The Republican State Committee, and the trusts which are behind the Republican State Committee, are in a state of panic. This is clearly evidenced in the things the Lodges and Gastons are putting in the months of the Guild-Draper campaign speakers. It is clearly evidenced in many minor ways, such as Governor Guild's refusal to meet Mr. Moran in debate, after he, the Governor, HAD PRACTICALLY CHALLENGED MORAN.

The Republicans are beginning to realize that the great silent vote of the State—that vote which represents the real citizenship of Massachusetts—is not for their bluff-challenge candidate for Governor, nor for their stand-pat, labor-oppressing candidate for Lieutenant-Governor.

But the Republicans, skilled in the methods of the Drapers, the Lodges and the "Jake" Wardwells, who are at the levers of their smooth-running machine, know a trick that has won many times in the past. Already they have begun to play it, with the assistance of the trusts.

It is a simple trick—nothing more nor less than to flood the State with MONEY.

It is reliably stated that the Guild-Draper campaign fund is not less than TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS—with more where that came from if it is needed.

This is naturally to be expected. The people with ill-gotten money are all for Guild and Draper. There is really no reason why they shouldn't be, unless they were more ungrateful than even a thieving trust usually is.

The Coal Trust is for Guild. Neither Moran nor those who will vote for him are in sympathy with its extortions from the poor.

The Ice Trust is for Guild. Moran indicted seventeen of its members.

The Boston Gas Trust is for Guild. He signed its sliding scale gas steal, which TOOK AWAY ALL RIGHT OF PETITION FROM THE PEOPLE OF BOSTON, last Spring.

The Textile Trust is for Guild. He appointed Senator William F. Dana to the bench after Dana had killed the Overtime Bill, thereby pleasing the textile lobby and preventing Guild from being "embarrassed."

The great steam railroads are for Guild. His Attorney-General delayed action on the petition against their holding trolley lines in defiance of law for nearly three months, giving them that much time to protect themselves legally.

The Boston Elevated Railway is for Guild. He cheerfully signed its Cambridge subway bill, last Spring, a measure that was shown to be as OUTRAGEOUS AND BOLD-FACED A STEAL AS WAS EVER PERPETRATED BY A MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

The State House Lobby is for Guild. Its most notorious member—"Jake" Wardwell—is a member of the executive committee which is spending the money to elect him.

The legislative thieves and grafters are for Guild. He allowed, and his Attorney-General conducted, the star chamber whitewash investigation of bribery charges which prevented District Attorney Moran from prosecuting the criminals, by rendering them immune.

The bucket-shop keepers are for Guild. His political lieutenants are friendly to them, while they have nothing to hope for from District Attorney Moran.

The Banking Trust is for Guild. He runs a paper that is supported by the advertisements of all the prominent Boston members of this financial oligarchy.

Kidder, Peabody & Company are for Guild. They represent the Standard Oil interests in Massachusetts and are naturally opposed to any man who believes, as Moran does, in law enforcement against the rich criminals as well as the poor ones.

In an ordinary election you would say that a man who was backed by every moneyed, franchise-grabbing, electorate-corrupting corporation in the State must surely be elected. BUT—it's a big "but" this year—ON THE OTHER SIDE ARE THE PEOPLE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

There has never been such a contrast in the history of the State. We doubt if the history of the country has shown its parallel.

On the one hand are Guild and Draper, the trusts, the lobby, the grafters, the professional politicians, AND TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS, with "more if it is needed."

On the other hand are Moran and Brown, the plain, common people, the workingmen of the State, the earnest, thinking voters, AND BARELY ENOUGH MONEY TO PAY THE ORDINARY ROUTINE EXPENSES OF THE MOST ORDINARY CAMPAIGN.

No corporation, no grafter, no lobbyist has contributed to the Independence League-Democratic-Prohibition campaign. ALL these organizations put together have a campaign fund of probably LESS THAN FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

The result of this has been to drive all the petty, grafting, ward-heeling politicians who have called themselves Democrats over to Guild and Draper, WHERE THEY BELONG. Some of them have come out openly, and the Republican campaign committee is advertising their defection. Others have been bought secretly and will do what they can for their new masters at the polls.

This newspaper believes that all their work for Guild, Draper and the trusts will be of no avail against the aroused sentiment of a State. It feels certain that THE PEOPLE OF MASSACHUSETTS, on next Tuesday, will demonstrate by their votes that they care more for MEN than for MONEY; more for PRINCIPLE than for PELF; more for GOOD GOVERNMENT than for GOLD.

The professional politicians, when they realized that the Moran-Brown campaign was to be conducted practically WITHOUT MONEY, laughed at the idea. It remains for the honest, State-loving, law-abiding people of Massachusetts to show these politicians that they have made a mistake in thinking an election in this State will be carried by the men with the most money to spend, regardless of what they stand for.

YOU, Mr. Voter, can answer this question for yourself, IN THE VOTING BOOTH:

"Shall I vote for Moran and Brown, the men, and their PRINCIPLES, or for Guild and Draper, the trusts and MONEY?"

The Farmer—Most Independent Man in the World

Most INDEPENDENT, and Yet Entirely at the Mercy of Thieving Trusts

Many of our readers have asked the question:

"HOW WILL THE FARMERS OF MASSACHUSETTS VOTE IN THIS ELECTION?"

No man can answer that question positively. THE FARMER VOTES THOUGHTFULLY, and talks little about his intentions. But in his vote you always find the results of intelligent study of national questions. And you find punishment for bad government.

It is not easy for man to appeal individually to the farmer's vote. And yet, every man who sincerely wishes for good government is the friend of the farmer, and the farmer is ready to recognize his sincerity.

Of all men, the farmer is the most independent. For he takes the wealth of the earth directly from the soil. He feeds the entire population of the globe. His efforts alone make possible and keep alive the great cities. He works hard, makes but little, YET ASKS NO FAVOR OF ANY MAN. What he wants is HONESTY in government, EQUALITY in law, open opportunity for his sons to go, in the future as they have in the past, from the farm to the highest place in the nation's gift.

The farmer's enemies are also the enemies of those that live in the cities.

The Railroad Trust robs the farmer, taking from him more than a fair share of the wealth that he produces. The same trust robs the mother and the child in the city, who cannot afford to buy the products that the farmer would gladly supply at prices perfectly reasonable.

The Milk Trust swindles the farmer shamelessly. AND THE MILK TRUST SWINDLES THE FAMILY IN THE CITY AND THE TOWN.

Very carefully the trust calculates THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE AT WHICH THE FARMER CAN PRODUCE MILK, and then pays him that price.

The railroads and the Milk Trust working together give the farmer two, or at most, three cents a quart for the milk when the mother in the city must buy for eight or ten cents.

The farmer supplies the land, the labor. He raises the calf, milks the cow, endures all the hardship and risk. AND THE RAILROAD AND THE MILK TRUST SIMPLY FOR TRANSPORTATION TAKE THREE DOLLARS FOR EVERY ONE THAT GOES TO THE FARMER.

The farmers have had less consideration in legislation than any other body of citizens, and yet they have borne the heaviest part of the national load.

The big cities have even grudged the paying of their share of State taxation. The city man is dull-minded indeed who does not appreciate the fact that wealth ACCUMULATED should pay the cost of government just as it pays the cost of fire insurance, and that it is a wrong to put any unnecessary burden on the farmer or the country community.

The farmers are especially able to understand public men, public questions and the forces behind public men.

They have long, quiet evenings in which to read and think deliberately.

They see that they must pay one price for the agricultural machine, while the trust sells that same machine to the American farmer's competitor in Argentina or in Russia for HALF PRICE.

They see clearly that all of the trust owners are united irrespective of party.

They see trust DEMOCRATS, Gaston and Whitney, voting this Fall for Guild with the trust REPUBLICANS.

And they realize, as do their fellow-citizens in the cities, that when the trusts combine regardless of politics against the people, THE PEOPLE SHOULD COMBINE REGARDLESS OF POLITICS AGAINST THE TRUSTS.

The farmer authorizes no man to speak for him.

But we feel safe in predicting that the election this year will show an unprecedented vote of the farmers against the trusts and trust candidate.

As they punish intelligently their enemies, so they will give confidence to a sincere friend opposed to all that trusts stand for, seeking only to enforce the old ideas of Americanism in government—EQUALITY, HONESTY, OPPORTUNITY.

LITTLE EDITORIALS FROM THE PEOPLE

WHY DOES GUILD DODGE MORAN'S CHALLENGE.

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

In your paper I noticed a reply from Governor Guild to Moran's challenge to a refusal to let the people decide for themselves whether they wanted an elevated or subway to Cambridge. Why did he refuse? Is he representing the people or the bonds? I would also suggest that you inquire of the different Representatives of the Moran type, who represent the people and so the voters can decide on our best Governor, why more necessary than a Governor. Why not give the people the necessity of electing Representatives of the Moran type. Law makers who represent the people are more than a necessity at present.
